The Communities in Schools of South Carolina (CISSC) and the Statewide Hispanic and Latino Council (SHLC) have teamed up to prepare Hispanic and Latino students for graduation and college. This Fall, CISSC will be providing a multitude of resources and services to 11 Counties across the state. The CSU systems and other partners are creating professional development and curriculum materials to supplement the supports being provided by CISSC. The SHLC is collaborating with CISSC and serving as a statewide resource regarding the needs of students in the 11 Counties and available services. The SC Commission for Minority Affairs Hispanic Latino Affairs Division launched the first South Carolina Latino Business Center. The SC Latino Business Center (SCLB) will serve as a one-stop-shop for emerging businesses interested in learning more about the various business tools and resources available to Latino entrepreneurs. Immigrants who call South Carolina home are far from alone. Approximately 2.3 million people currently live in South Carolina, and it is projected that number will jump by an estimated 40 percent by 2050. Eighty-eight percent of these new residents will be Latinos, bringing the Latino population to an estimated 3.6 million in South Carolina in 20 years. Latino South Carolinians are comprised of people born in the United States (85.7 percent), migrants from Latin America (9.9 percent), and people of Puerto Rican origin (2.8 percent). Through additional research conducted by the University of South Carolina, data from the 2015 South Carolina Population Data, and data from SC DFS (South Carolina Department of Finance and Administration), this tool showcases the many facets of the South Carolina Latino community. 5ec8ef588b
